

MOVIE
SET STILL PHOTOGRAPHY

INTRODUCTION

We are a collective of visual storytellers, led by Drew Bird. We provide powerful documentary style unit still photography and editorial portraits for movie productions, television productions, and film sets.

Exceptional still photography is a vital component of any motion picture set. The bulk of our photography will be rooted in the photojournalistic style. We will create compelling images that can be used for advertising, promotion, press release, and as a historical archive. We will also create authentic editorial portraits and behind the scenes photographs.

We are based in San Francisco, California and photograph for clients world-wide.

CLIENTS & TESTIMONIALS

Drew Bird and his creative team are excellent professionals. Their images are breathtaking. And their talent, work ethic and dependability is why I fly them all over the world to help tell our visual stories. From pre-planning to final image delivery, I always know I'm receiving top level service and world-class photography.

The Drew Bird team captures artistic moments and shape them into a beautiful story. Drew is also an absolute pleasure to work with. He is personable and enjoyable. He's also dependable: I have full trust in Drew and never have to worry about him or his team.

I highly recommend the Drew Bird Photo team for any project.

Working with Drew Bird and his team is always a fantastic experience. He understands exactly what we need for our stories and easily works within our creative direction while also offering his creative viewpoints. He constantly strives to discover and create the best images that any setting has to offer, and has a skill for capturing the action in a way that feels natural yet reflects the energy of the moment and the essence of the story.

We are always happy with the final images and with the Drew Bird team's positive energy and enthusiasm. On top of all this, Drew is a genuinely engaging and intelligent person — an excellent communicator who is skillful at adapting to new challenges, Drew is not only a professional storyteller with the camera; he is a business professional as well. This is why we fly him all over the world to create photo stories for our clients.

SCALE

The size of our photography and creative team can be scaled to match the size of any project. Whether we need to go small with a single photographer or if your project requires multiple photographers, digital editors, and photography assistants, we can custom tailor our team to meet your needs.

KICKOFF

Inquire with us about your project needs and potential dates. Or schedule a phone or video chat consultation with Drew.

Every project is unique. We will build you a custom proposal to meet your needs.

DISCOVERY

Included with every project are multiple pre-planning meetings via phone or video chat. We will work with your production and media team to identify your photo needs and aesthetics. We will work with you to co-create an itinerary and production schedule for each day of photography. Site visits and location scouting are available for any project.

CREATIVE

The foundation of your photo story will be rooted in an authentic and natural style capturing unit still images of your motion picture production. Our creative team also provides editorial portraits and powerful behind the scenes images. Our visual storytelling is dynamic and a blend of many styles. The end result is powerful photography sure to engage your target audience. We will custom tailor our approach to meet your needs as identified during the Discovery phase.

INSTANT DELIVERY

POST-PRODUCTION

After the photography portion is complete we will cull, edit, and optimize the final images. Delivery times for the final images can be customized to meet your production needs. We'll build a private online proof gallery for you and you'll select your top images for final delivery. The total number of images delivered to you can be customized for any project. Rush delivery options are available as an add-on to any package. All image deliveries are made via digital download.

CUSTOM MOBILE APP GALLERY

We can also build a custom mobile app photo gallery for you as an add-on to any package. Mobile apps are a great way to share a "best-of" selection of images from our project with your team, executives, sponsors, and partners. Using a phone or a tablet, click here to download and view an example mobile app gallery.

LET'S CREATE A PHOTO STORY TOGETHER

We are a collective of San Francisco based photographers and storytellers led by Drew Bird. Still images help us all understand our experience and to communicate a story that words alone cannot convey. We love collaborating with clients to transform ideas and experiences into photo stories.

We are available for hire worldwide and have a plethora of experience creating fresh and captivating visual content for motion picture sets, television and advertising productions, documentary film sets, movie premieres, marketing agencies, brands, corporations, media publications, and people in search of professional and powerful photography.

When not travelling for a project, Drew lives in Oakland, California with his sweet-lady Zoom and a little lemon tree in the back yard.

Every client project is unique. Contact us with a description of your photo needs and we will put together a custom proposal for you.
